EXTENT OF THE COVER

1. Loss of gross profit

The Insurance benefits will be calculated as hereunder:

Loss of gross profit and increase in cost of working less savings in standing charges, as per definitions hereunder:

A. Loss of gross profit:

The sum produced by applying the rate of gross profit to the shortage in turnover, in consequence of the insured event during the indemnity period.

B. Increase in cost of working

The sum of the additional necessary and reasonable expenses incurred solely for the purpose of avoiding or reducing the reduction in turnover which but for that expenditure would have taken place during the indemnity period in consequence of the insured event.

Under the specific condition that the sum, which shall be paid in terms of this paragraph, in respect of each and every aforementioned expenditure, shall not exceed the sum arrived at by multiplying the rate of the gross profit by that portion of the turnover the loss of which was prevented by that additional expense.

Should not all the standing charges be insured, the sum arrived at under this item will be reduced by the proportion between the insured gross profit to the total gross profit (all standing charges with the addition of net profit or the deduction of net loss, as the case may be).

C. Savings in standing charges

Any sum which was saved during the indemnity period in respect of those expenses and costs of the business which are paid out of gross profits which were reduced or interrupted due to the insured event.

D. Under Insurance:

Should at the time of the event the sum insured be less than the gross profit earned during 12 months from the date of event but for the loss, (hereunder the would have been turnover) the indemnity will be reduced by the proportion between the sum insured and the “would have been turnover”.

Should the indemnity period specified in the schedule be longer than 12 months, the indemnity will be reduced by the proportion between the sum insured and the result of multiplying the “would have been turnover” by the number of months of the indemnity period divided by 12.

2. Loss of wages on dual basis, if separately covered in the schedule.

The insurance benefits will be calculated as hereunder:

Loss of wages:

A. Full Indemnity period-

The sum produced by applying the rate of wages to the shortage in turnover, in consequence of the insured event during that part of the indemnity period commencing with the insured event and ending not later than the number of weeks stated in the schedule for which 100% cover was given for the date of event, less every saving in wages due to the event during the same period.

B. Partial indemnity period-

The sum produced by applying the rate of wages to the shortage in turnover during the remainder of the indemnity period and multiplying by the percentage the wages covered for this period, less every savings in wages during the same period.

Should the loss of wages during this partial indemnity period exceed the sum arrived at as above, the sum deducted as saving under 1) above will be added to the insurance benefits, but in no case will the total indemnity for this period exceed the total loss of wages during this period less savings.

C. Extended indemnity period-

If an extended indemnity period is explicitly stated in the schedule, it is agreed that the insured at his option is entitled to extend the period for which he will receive full indemnity according to the definition under 1) above for the number of weeks of the extended period shown in the schedule. This instead of the indemnity provided under 1) and 2) above. The indemnity will be established as per 1) above, however for the extended period.

In addition the insured is entitled to indemnity for loss of wages as per A above for the remainder of the indemnity period but not more than the sum deducted as saving in wages for the extended period.

3. In respect of increase in cost of working.

The sum of the additional necessary and reasonable expenses incurred solely for the purpose of avoiding or reducing the reduction in turnover which but for that expenditure would have taken place during the indemnity period in consequence of the insured event.

Under the condition that the above sum, shall not exceed the sum saved as indemnity under loss of wages, should the sum not have been incurred.

4. Under Insurance:

Should at the time of the event the sum insured be less than the wages which would have been during 12 months from the date of event but for the loss, (hereunder the would have been wages) the indemnity will be reduced by the proportion between the sum insured and the "would have been wages".

Should the indemnity period specified in the schedule be longer than 12 months, the indemnity will be reduced by the proportion between the sum insured and the result of multiplying the "would have been wages" by the number of months of the indemnity period divided by 12.
